

FusionSystems GmbH

We are specialists in the field of information technology. As a service provider for industry, research and development our main industrial field is the sensor technology, the integration at systems as well as the software development.

We design, develop and implement systems based on your requirements and we are also an experienced partner for developing algorithms for the solution of your challenging tasks.

In environments where man and machine meet - in the production or in everyday life - FusionSystems creates detection systems which make innovative man-machine-interfaces safe and effective.

With our products and services you can enhance your productivity and safety of your company.

Our core capabilities are:

- Industrial image processing for flexible, robust and cost-effective quality control
- Driver assistance solutions
- Automated guided vehicle systems with flexible navigation
- Sensor-controlled navigation solutions
- Automation of mobile systems

Challenge us.

